Barack Obama was the first African-American to be elected President of the United States. Prior to winning, Obama ran a very good Election Campaign.

Are you interested in running for President at school, becoming captain of a sports team or leader in a group? Ask an adult how a regular campaign works.

Normally you and your friends would put up catchy posters showing people what your ideas and strengths are all about. Next you would tell people in person why you would be the best leader. And finally, you would deliver an unforgettable speech. Do you think that you have what it takes to run for President? If so, give it a shot!

Gather a group of four or more players. Choose one person to be in charge. This person will write down one politician, song, city or State name on separate pieces of paper. This person will then tape one name to each of the players' backs without showing them who they have. Players must guess who or what they are by walking around and asking YES or NO questions to the other players. (Example questions - if you are playing with States - Is my State in the north? Do alligators live in my State) This is a great ice-breaker if you are trying to get to know some new friends.
