Angela Davis was prompted to become a radical activist after witnessing bombings in her neighborhood growing up.

Is there something that you see in your world that would inspire you to do something radical to change things?

Write a Newspaper Headline and story describing what you have witnessed and how you would like to change or better things.

*While in Office, Barack Obama's most significant achievement was the signing of the Affordable Care Act bill.
If you could write any bill to change the world, what would that be?*

*Create your own bill. Make sure that it is something that is very important to you.
Do you think the President would sign or pass on it?*
